

PASSING POINTS

2025 scale changes

NCCT has updated its scale scores to better align with evolving educational standards and industry requirements, ensuring a more accurate and relevant assessment of candidate performance. These enhancements reflect NCCT's commitment to providing the highest quality certification and evaluation services for healthcare professionals.

The change moved away from a smaller scale, which was often confused with a percentage, to a larger scale. We hope that this larger scale will be difficult to misinterpret as a percentage. The previous scale ranged from 0 to 100, the new scale ranges from 200 to 720. If you achieved a 70 or higher on the previous scale, you would pass. If you achieve a 575 or higher on the new scale, you will pass.
